ONE CENT PER COPY. FRANKFORT ON THE MAINE. At Aix-la-Chapelia pedestrians take the middle of the street, for there are few sidewalks except in the newly built portions of the town. Politeness distinguishes the people there and indeed throughout Germany and France. When one gentleman meets another of his acquaintance, he does not merely raised his hat, but takes it off; and. when a gentleman is introduced to a lady he kisses her hand. Even the lower classes partake, in this respect of the maners of the higher. I accidentally got seperated from my companions in the Cathedral, and to rejoin them had to pass through the dense crowd, who with unostentations politeness made way for me on every side, some even rising from their knees to give me a free pasage out. I can even take off my hat to any lady I meet without being thought impertinent, which is not the case in New York.

The people are very honest. I can go into a shop and make a purchase, and I do not understand the price can bold out a hanful of change, from which they will take the declared value of the article and no more. I have no deed here, as I had in London, to take precentions against having my pockets

Al a second visit to the Cathedral at Aixla-Chapelle we inspected the celebrated relics. I do not know that I either can or need give you a perfect list of them. The most prominent were, the cloth in which was wrapped the body of Christ, when laid in the tomb, a piece of his girille, a piece of the rope with which he was scourged, a piece of the cross, the girdle of the Virgin Mary, a peice of the sponge on which vinegar was given to the Suviour on the cross; in fact we saw almost every thing pertaining to Chairt except the spear and the nails with which he was pierced.

But it is marvelloue that people can be lieve in the genuineness of these rilics; to say nothing of the numerous places in which these professedly same reles are exibited .-For it must be remembered that by the Jews Christ was deemed an impostor and his death was that of a malefactor. The Jews were not likely to keep mementnes of him, and the disriples would have little chance of obtaining them; besides, they had weightier matters to engross their attention. As to the rope with which he was bound or schoneged, it either disproves its own antiquity or the cordwainers of the present day had their equals eighteen hundred years

At the Cathedral at Cologne we saw a beautiful gold hox, set with precious stones which is said to contain four of the thorns from the crown which our Saviour wore .-In one of the Churches at Boon were shown to us "sacred stairs" which fed up to Pilat's judgement hall, still bearing the stains of blood which dropped from the wounds made by the crowns of thorns! No one is alowed to ascend them except on his knees which of course I declined.

EMIGRATION FROM LIVERPOOL.-The amount of emigration from Great Britain and Ireland has thus far surpassed that of any pravious year as will be seen from the following returns, made up on the 16th, inst., of emigration from Liverpool port

THE DAILY NEWS.

Newport:

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 13 1847.

BY O. F. JACKSON, 91-THAMES ST.

A SECRET WORTH KNOWING,-We cut the following from the Philadelphia North American. It is of importance to every business man.

. " It is a wonder of the ignorant that men with small capital all around them are successful in business, and rapidly acquiring wealth, while they with enlarged means and opportunities are scarcely making a living. Examples multiply on all sides, as we look around among those with whom we started in life, of the value of brains .-In the push and enterprise which distinguish 'Yankee land,' the drine with incoey is soon passed in the race by the industrious and energatic, with a will to do and a head to plan. Yet how many with equal abilines slumber, while, a more open-eyed and active neighbor gradually steals inway their business, and when it is gone shake off their drowsiness, wonder at the decree of fate, and fail.

Shall we cell you, reader, a simple secret, which, next to industry and vigilance, has made more fortunes than all the smiles of the stars? It is not enough that you have a well'chosen store and a well-selected assortment of goods; that you open your store early in the morning and remain in it until late at night; (these are good things, indispensable;) the few who pass by your place of business may see and admire your perseverance, but the public, the great number who buy, what know they of the doings of a single comet upon the hill. You must speak to numbers, by the accredited organs of communication, through the journals that reach the most eyes and effects the most minds. Do not squander your money without an inquiry, but in the exercise of your reason. Circulate the knowledge of your business through those journals which reach the whole public. The newspapers will enable you to accomplish this.

Horrio Revenation .-- Melancthon Mc Knight, who suddenly disappeared from near St. Louis, a short time since, and who it was supposed was murdered, has been found alive and well, having culisted in the army. Two mendiad been arrested on suspicion of having murdered lifm. One of them (named Walworth) was the partner of the missing man, in the proprietorship of a wharf boat, and the other a barkeeper of the firm. On the night of the disappearance of McKnight, cries were heard on the boat and shortly after: a splash in the water, as though a heavy body had fallen overboard. Next morning blood was found about the boat, and the hat of the missing man cut through, as though by a blow from a hatchet-which instrument alsowas found. bloody, and having about it homan hair .-Suspicion immediately attached to the two persons, who were subsequently arrested. The citizens held a mob meeting, and were on the eve of hanging one or both of the accused, when a rumor gained currency that McKnight had been seen floating down the river in a canor. This rumor served to cave the lives of the men, and a committee was despatched to ascertain its truth. In due time the deputation returned, having been unsuccessful in its search, and the rumor was pronounced a trick of the friends or the accused to gain time. The fury of the mob bowever, become somewhat abated and the inen were ordered to prison to await a judicia! investigation. A d 3. R. McKnight, brother to the missing man. visited Jufferson barracks, where he discovered, not the murderer, but his own brother, place and well. He load enlisted and was found a soldier in the regular service. . He stated to his brother that he has become involved, and that one of the persons accused of his murder had threatened to take his life. It was to screen himself, and punish this man, that he pursued the course he had. That whole writing the letter, in the room where it was found, his nose commenced bleeding; he smeared the blood upon the letter, took the hatchet which was found out his hat with it, stain ed its blade with blood, out from his head come hair, attached it to the blood upon the hatchet, collected blood in his hand and rubbed it upon the door jam, went to the river got into a cance and floated down noder the guards of the boats to prevent being seen arrived; tila nisal and calated; in the atmy.

PRICE OF FLOURIN ENGLAND.—The fast accounts from England (Sept. 19) quoted American flour at 28 shillings. A year balore (Sept. 19, 1846) the price was the same, 29 shillings. The fluctuations within the year have been great. The price continued to rise gradually till Fabruary last, when it had reached 42 shillings .-From that time till April, it fell ngain, going down to 33, shillings. Then another rise was experienced, till June, when 50 shillings was the mark. Since June, the fall has been gradual, till the 4th of September, when the price had gone down to 26 shill lings: The Hibernin's accounts, however, (Sept. 19) showed a slight reneijon, and an advance, which will probably only be temporary, of 3 or 4 shillings.

Co-A letter from an American officer of rank, which we find in the N. Y. Courier ary." and Enquirer says, "the Mexican loss is 500 killed in the second hattle (Churchusco,) 1000 wounded, and 1100 prisoners, exclusive of officers. Three more generals were taken, among them Gen. Rincon, and Annya, the provisional President; also 10 pieces of cannon, and an immense uncount of acompaition and stores. Santa Anna, in his report, states his loss in killed, wounded and missing (in both engagements.) at 12.-000. He has only 18,000 left out al. 30,000 which he gives as his force on the 20th in both actions."

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE CAPT. BUAGG. 4 Monterey correspondent of the New Orleans National says, under date of the 29th the hed of the gallant soldier an eight inch bomb shelf, with a train leading off by no injury. Two of the missiles went through his bed without touching him .--His escape is looked upon as miraculous the contents of the shell having been sentterril around for a hundred yards. No cause is assigned for this attempt upon Cant. Bragg's life, except that some of his men think he is 100 severe in his discipline. This is the second attempt upon his life.

Rogging a Church.-On Thursday last the Olergyman of the Episcopal Church at Plymouth, desirous to exhibit the interior of his church to some ladies visiting the t town attended them thither, when to his astomishment he found that the church bad been to tested by two boys between 16 and 17 cutered by two boys between 16 and 17 years of age, the sacristy invaded, and the sacramental plate broken up preparatory to being carried away.
